

To: Stoner, Nancy[Stoner.Nancy@epa.gov]
From: National Wildlife Federation
Sent: Sat 1/25/2014 11:00:28 AM
Subject: Nutty Ways to Celebrate Squirrel Appreciation Day

January 25, 2014

DONATE NOW

E-NEWS SIGN UP

SHOP NWF

Nutty Ways to Celebrate Squirrel Appreciation

Across the country, acrobatic and quirrels amuse and delight
our parks and backyards.

Honor these furry
friends/nemeses on January 21.

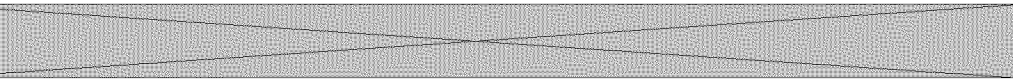

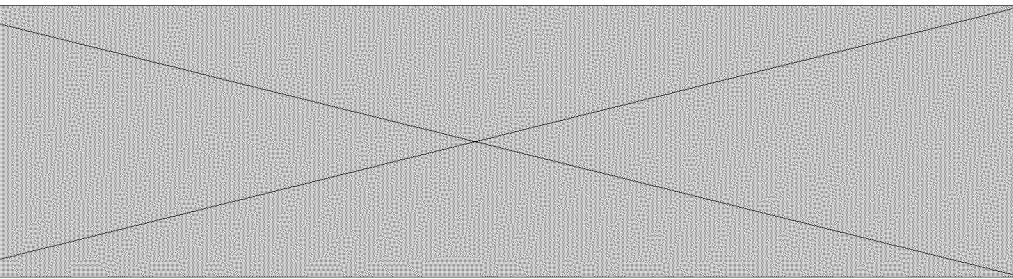

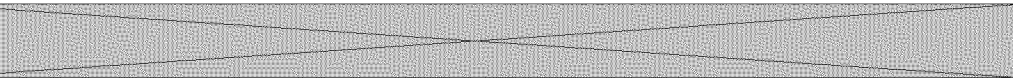

Victory for Wildlife in the Fight Against Montana's Pebble Mine

st week, a new Environmental Protection Agency assessment commended the proposed bble Mine be halted
mediately.

elp get this critical fight for aska's grizzlies and salmon to e finish line.

How Mushrooms Are Changing the World's Winds

Despite their preponderance, mushrooms remain mysterious
even as they affect the world around us.

Learn more about the subtle weather mechanics of mushrooms.

honorale Mentions from the 2013 National Life Photo Contest

th more than 32,000 images tered last year, selecting the nners was hard.

ankfully, you can see more credible images in the honorale Mention gallery.

What Do You Know About Groundhogs?

Everyone's favorite meteorologist makes his annual appearance next month.

Here are 10 things you might not know about groundhogs.

Nature Journaling Tips for Beginners or Veterans

today's digital world, a nature journal you fill with sketches and notes can be a fun way to connect with wildlife.

Put down your phone and pick up a pencil!

How to Create a Wildflower Meadow

Looking to spruce up your garden while attracting wildlife?

Bring a burst of color to with native wildflowers.

JP | SHOP NWF | FORWARD TO A FRIEND

2014 National Wildlife
Federation — All rights reserved

PO Box 1583, Merrifield VA

22016-1583 | 800-822-9919

www.nwf.org | Privacy Policy |

Contact Us

subscribe